Man Sentenced to 12 years for Attempting to Rape Woman at Gun Point

Washington, D.C. - Jonathan Newman, age 23, formerly of the 2300 block of Hartford Street, SE, was sentenced by the Honorable Michael Rankin in the Superior Court of the District of Columbia to 12 years incarceration on June 18, 2010, for Assault with Intent to Commit First Degree Sexual Abuse While Armed, Armed Robbery, two counts of Third Degree Sexual Abuse While Armed, Possession of a Firearm During a Crime of Violence, Unlawful Possession of a Firearm by a Convicted Felon and Carrying a Pistol Without a License, announced United States Attorney Ronald C. Machen Jr. The defendant must also register as a sexual offender for the remainder of his life.

According to the government's evidence at trial, the victim had never met nor seen the defendant before he attacked her on June 28, 2009, at approximately 11:40 p.m. Newman snuck up behind the victim, who was standing outside of her apartment building in the 1500 block of Marion Street, N.W., talking on her cellular telephone. Newman put a dark colored revolver to the victim's right temple, snapped her cellular telephone shut and pushed her inside of her apartment building where he tried to rape her. As Newman tried to rape the victim, he shot himself in the arm. After doing so, Newman fled the building. The victim ran to her apartment and immediately called 911.

In announcing the sentence, United States Attorney Machen praised the work of MPD Detectives Wandella Fields, Wallace Carmichael and Anita Jackson, Criminal Investigator Durand Odom, Officers Ryan Kolb and Monica Agusti and Mobile Crime Lab Technicians Curtis Lancaster and Ralph Nitz. He also commended the work of U.S. Attorney's Office paralegals Jason Manuel and Eugena Johnson, legal assistant Tiffany Jones, victim advocate Veronica Vaughan, Victim Witness Assistance Unit members David Foster and Katina Adams and litigation services members Kimberly Smith and Joseph Calverese.
